A Letter From Our President & Co-Founder

Brian Berman

It was in early 2003 when it all happened. My life had been going just fine (so I thought) when it was radically interrupted by the death of my mother, Ingrid Berman. "Ma", as I called her, was at the young age of 52 when Leukemia took its toll on her. However, the story of Project Mañana is not about sadness -- no, it's just the opposite -- it's a story of hope and change.

You see, it was that moment in 2003 when I realized that I was living a selfish and unproductive life -- especially as I reflected on how Ma spent her entire life caring for and helping others. That same year, I began traveling throughout the Caribbean. Each year I would return to visit new islands and experience new cultures.

April 2007, was the first time I landed in the Dominican Republic -- and I instantly fell in love with the people and their incredible culture. Shortly thereafter, I resigned from my corporate career and made the Dominican Republic my full-time home in December 2007. My mission was simple; to begin investing in people, instead of things!

As the new year rolled around, 2008 became my "Dominican Boot Camp Year." It was during that time that I learned Spanish (it was actually a miracle from God, but that's another story), got a better grasp of the Dominican culture, and began making my first relationships with the nationals.

I joined a well-known mission organization based in Santiago, Dominican Republic and spent most of my days visiting families, working with children and students, and developing new ways to resource programs for some of the poorest communities on the island. With more than 25 years of experience, that organization (and its president) poured into me and helped me understand the complexities of international mission work.

After serving with a team of amazing missionaries for a few years, I married Nebraska Carolina and we began dreaming of Project Mañana -- which would be a new and dynamic way of partnering with others to help break the cycle of poverty through clean water, nutrition, education, and discipling projects -- starting in the Dominican Republic.

On September 30, 2010 (my mother's birthday), we officially opened the doors of Project Mañana as a recognized 501(c)(3) charitable organization! Since then, Project Mañana has grown exponentially as more and more partners have come alongside the vision of Working Together Today For An Eternal Tomorrow.™

Meet "Javito" A Success Story

Angel, known to friends and visitors alike as "Javito", has been around Project Mañana from the beginning. As a child, living in our ministry community, he was able to attend school, receive nutritious meals and have a safe place to learn and grow through our Child Sponsorship Program.

After he graduated high school, Javito spent a season serving as Project Mañana's first Dominican national intern. While interning, he was mentored by our Graphic Design & Marketing team; where he learned technical, professional, and life skills. He did such a great job, we recently hired him full-time as a graphic designer and computer teacher.

Javito is now planning to attend the university on a full-ride scholarship thanks to Project Mañana's University Scholarship Fund, and a generous sponsor.

This story is one we share with pride! Javito has gone from sponsored child to employee; to impacting the next generation of Dominicans in his community.

Does child sponsorship work? Just ask Javito!

I've grown a lot as a person as Project Mañana has provided me with emotional support since I was a child. Everything Project Mañana has done for me is a gift.

I appreciate the ministry's efforts so much more now that I'm working here. It's incredible because I've had the opportunity to help all the projects that Project Mañana offers in the community where I live; and I'm very grateful.

Nutrition Project

Fill a child's stomach and they will open their mind.

Proper nutrition is a vital building block for children's growth and development. This project provides a cooked nutritious meal to impoverished children, 5 days per week. The children enrolled in the program have limited or no access to daily meals or clean drinking water and are carefully selected based on need.

Since 2010, our Nutrition Project has provided impoverished children with more than 607,740 meals.

UPDATE: After serving meals in temporarily, ill-equipped facilities for nearly eight years, Project Mañana is excited to announce that on July 31, 2019 we began serving nutritious meals from our brand-new, state-of-the-art Nutrition Center in the community of San Pablo (Villa González, Dominican Republic).

Education Project

Fill a child's mind and they will open their heart.
Education is key to breaking the cycle of poverty.

This project provides impoverished children the opportunity to attend Colegio Evangélico Aclamamos Por Su Sabiduría (We Praise Your Wisdom Christian School), Project Mañana's private school (located in the community of San Pablo (Villa González, Dominican Republic) at little or no cost.

The children enrolled in the school are carefully selected based on need and our team of expert teachers/staff ensure they receive a high-quality education.

Clean Water Project

Clean water is the most basic human necessity -- without it, survival is impossible.

More than 28,000 children die each week, worldwide, as a result of exposure to polluted water. Fortunately, there is a very low-cost solution to this 100% preventable crisis. This project provides simple-to-use water purification systems to impoverished communities at no charge to the families.

Project Mañana's team personally delivers each water purification system and provides training on its use and maintenance. Then, a community-based Clean Water Coordinator monitors each system and provides ongoing training on a regular basis.

Introducing the Filter of Hope

The Filter of Hope is a revolutionary water purification system that can produce 546,000 gallons of clean water over a 10-year period (that's 150 gallons per day).

Timothy Project

From the Bible, 1 Timothy 6:17-19 states:

"Command those who are rich in this present world not to be arrogant nor to put their hope in wealth, which is so uncertain, but to put their hope in God, who richly provides us with everything for our enjoyment. Command them to do good, to be rich in good deeds, and to be generous and willing to share. In this way they will lay up treasure for themselves as a firm foundation for the coming age, so that they may take hold of the life that is truly life." (NIV)

The Timothy Project Seeks to:

- Share the Gospel - Matthew 28:16-20
- Empower Leaders Through Discipleship - 2 Timothy 2
- Plant Churches - Acts 1:8, 13:1-3, 14:21-23
- Provide For The Needy - Acts 4:32-35
- Create Jobs & Offer Employment - Proverbs 14:23

Prison Project

We can't change the past, but we can affect our future.

Project Mañana believes that prison should be a place of rehabilitation. Changing an inmate's heart is the first step in creating a productive and rehabilitated member of society. This project provides prison inmates with a first-hand experience of God's love through discipleship workshops.

In 2011, Project Mañana formed the Institute For Authentic Manhood;TM and has assembled a team of experts who work directly with inmates and their families. The Institute also serves prison officials and men in various communities throughout the Dominican Republic. In 2017, Project Mañana expanded its services to incarcerated women by launching the Institute For Authentic WomanhoodTM.

The Prison Project also hosts the annual Returning Hearts Celebration; where inmates have the opportunity to spend the day with their children in a safe, fun, atmosphere.

Princess Project

Nurture a young lady's self-esteem and she will thrive.

In the life of a young Dominican girl, a quinceañera (15th birthday) is one of the most important days that she'll experience. It's a "coming-of-age" celebration.

Sadly, for most living in the communities where Project Mañana serves, a lack of resources means that most of them will never get to enjoy this very special celebration.

The Princess Project is designed to provide impoverished girls with the opportunity to experience a quinceañera. They are invited to "go shopping" at the Princess Project Salon for a beautiful dress, tiara, and all the accessories to make their celebration very special. Then, Project Mañana's team will help plan an amazing celebration with the princess' family and friends.
